

TINA R. ARMSTRONG

Director of Clinical Training and Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA in Theater, University of California at Los Angeles; EdM in Human Development and Psychology, Harvard Graduate School of Education; MA in Clinical Psychology, MA in Theology, and PhD in Clinical Psychology, Fuller Theological Seminary
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Community mental health, wellness and resilience in helping professionals, women of color in academia, vicarious trauma, mentorship and emerging professionals, early childhood mental health

WARREN S. BROWN

Director of the Lee Edward Travis Research Institute and Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology, Postdoctoral Scholar, UCLA Brain Research Institute
 BA, Point Loma Nazarene University; MA and PhD, University of Southern California
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Neuropsychology and psychophysiology (including study of cognitive deficits associated with pathology of the corpus callosum and the study of EEG potentials in mental activity and psychopathology), neuroscience and philosophy (i.e., free will, wisdom, and virtue), science and faith

CYNTHIA B. ERIKSSON

Associate Professor of Psychology and PsyD Program Chair, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA, Wheaton College; MA in Psychology, PhD in Clinical Psychology, Fuller Theological Seminary
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Trauma and posttraumatic stress disorder; missionary mental health and self-care; chronic stress and burnout in caregivers; spirituality and trauma reactions

JOEY FUNG

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA, University of Michigan; MA and PhD, University of California, Los Angeles
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Culture and child psychopathology; parent training programs; parent-child relations; child and adolescent anxiety; mental health care for Asian and Asian American families

SUNG H. KIM

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA and MA, Seoul National University; PhD, University of Texas at Austin
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Statistics, psychometrics, Asian American psychology, multiculturalism, use of self in psychotherapy, psychotherapy outcome research, counseling psychology

ANNE A. TURK NOLTY

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BS (mathematics), Davidson College; MM (mathematics), University of South Carolina; MDiv, MA in Psychology, and PhD in Clinical Psychology, Fuller Theological Seminary
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Clinical neuropsychology and assessment; resilience of humanitarian aid workers and first responders; psychocognitive sequela of cancer; sluggish cognitive tempo and working memory computerized interventions; moral education with adolescents

JENNY PAK

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA, University of California, Los Angeles; MA, Fuller Theological Seminary; PhD, University of Southern California
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Narrative analysis, globalization, cultural transitions, parent-child relationship, identity, vocational and spiritual development, posttraumatic growth, grief, loss, pastoral and missionary care

LISSETH ROJAS-FLORES

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology
 BA, Georgia State University; MA and PhD, Adelphi University
RESEARCH INTERESTS: Trauma, child and adolescent therapy, immigration, youth violence prevention, community engagement, cross-cultural research, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT)

STEPHEN W. SIMPSON

Associate Professor of Psychology, Department of Doctoral Psychology

BA, Wake Forest University; MA and PhD in Clinical Psychology, Fuller Theological Seminary

RESEARCH INTERESTS: Sexuality, psychotherapy, psychopathology, depression, anxiety, marriage therapy

KENNETH T. WANG

Professor of Psychology and PhD Program Chair, Department of Doctoral Psychology

BSM, National Chiao-Tung University, Taiwan; MA, Wheaton College; PhD, Penn State University

RESEARCH INTERESTS: perfectionism, cross-cultural (international students, missionaries, sojourners, immigrants) psychological adjustment, cross-cultural and multicultural psychology, Asian and Asian American mental health, research design