ACADEMIC INTERDISCIPLINARY/INTER-INSTITUTIONAL COHORTS

Seminario Bíblico de Colombia — Fuller Theological Seminary. Co-led an inter-institutional academic project with specific goals for both institutions: The accreditation of a predoctoral MAT at the Seminario Bíblico de Colombia; and a scholarly research project that includes conferences and the production of literature attending to the pedagogical and theological visions of both institutions in regard to Christianity in the Americas. The first symposium took place in Medellín, Colombia, August 2014, and four Fuller faculty members presented papers: Juan Martínez, Lisseth Rojas-Flores, Tommy Givens, Oscar García-Johnson. The proceedings have been edited by Dr. Milton Acosta from Colombia and me, and published in Conversaciones Teológicas del Sur Global Americano (Puertas Abiertas, 2016).

Latin American & U.S. Latino/a Church (SOT, SIS, SOP): Led an academic forum constituted by Tommy Givens, Kyong-Jin Lee, Charles Van Engen, Juan Martínez, Grace Dyrness, Marcel Ponton, Osias Segura, Oscar García-Johnson, and Lisseth Rojas-Flores.

COMMUNITY TRANSFORMATION PROJECTS

EL Camino del Inmigrante [The Way of the Immigrant], August 20–30, 2016. Served as daily devotional writer, activist.

This 150-mile walk from Tijuana to Los Angeles, which involved over 170 walkers from the United States and Latin America and 50 local churches, was a political Christian pilgrimage seeking public awareness on issues regarding immigration, comprehensive immigration reform, church involvement, and faith-rooted political advocacy on behalf of the undocumented population in the United States of America.

Omega Generation Youth Mentorship Program, 2008–2010. Cofounder.

This one-year mentorship program targets Latino/a young adults labeled as generation Ñ, an alternative designation for Millennials in the Anglo-American context. This program has a fourfold objective: (1) awareness of the complexities surrounding the sense of cultural identity in a global context such as Los Angeles, in a postmodern, postcolonial, and post-Christendom epoch; (2) competency to develop a relevant spirituality from a generational perspective; (3) the experience of coaching in the interest of achieving professional excellence in correspondence with kingdom ethics, while participating in the economic and political life of global America; (4) the casting of a civic vision that places the emphasis on the proper use of power, wealth, and faith—to give back to the weak and poor in the world, Christian solidarity, opportunities for social change, material resources, political advocacy, etc.

Transnational Mission Routing, 2005–2010. Facilitator.

This project involves the task of establishing, nurturing, and expanding transnational mission connections between two or more churches of different geographical and contextual locations by which both churches (or groups of churches) are enriched and transformed in the act of exchanging visions, stories, and ministry resources. The outcome is the establishment of a transnational mission route sustained by a transnational missiology and praxis. I established three transnational mission routes: Los Angeles and Chiapas/Oaxaca, Mexico; Los Angeles and La Habana, Cuba; and Los Angeles and Suzuka, Japan.
